Information about the appeals procedure

APPEALS

Anyone whose interests are affected may appeal a Division decision concerning any matter dealt with under the provisions of the Act. Decisions of operating Divisions may be appealed to the Appeal Board. The appeal will first be considered by an Appeals Examiner, who will review the information, make any further inquiry required by oral inquiry or otherwise, and report the findings to a Commissioner for decision. A decision of a Commissioner

REPRESENTATION

Any party to an appeal is entitled to be represented at any oral inquiry or hearing by a representative of their own choice and at their own expense.

A workmen's adviser is available at the Board's offices in Toronto, without charge, to assist in preparing and presenting appeals.

EVIDENCE AND WITNESSES

REASONS FOR DECISIONS

Decisions will be in writing and will contain the reasons on which the decision is based.

A SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

Where an appeal is made against a decision anyone whose interests are affected may obtain, on application to the Registrar of Appeals and without cost, a summary of the information upon which the decision was based.

An opportunity for a hearing will be provided before the Appeal Board.
